How to get Great VIPKid Parent Feedback

Writing student feedback is a big part of the job as a VIPKid teacher, but did you know you can receive feedback from parents in return? In addition to Five Apple ratings, parents can leave written feedback about their impressions of you that other parents can see. Here's a quick checklist on ways you can ensure you receive great parent feedback.

- [ ] Always start and end class on time.
- [ ] Wear something professional/business casual.
- [ ] Smile!
- [ ] Include lifestyle shots in your bio to show your personality and hobbies.
- [ ] Use fun and engaging props.
- [ ] Be enthusiastic, encouraging, and patient.
- [ ] Be aware of cultural differences.
- [ ] Show a colorful welcome slide before class starts with a message requesting parent feedback.
- [ ] If they leave you apples but don't leave written feedback, politely respond and ask for them to do so. If you didn't get all five apples, ask how you can improve your teaching.
- [ ] Write excellent, meaningful feedback to show parents how much you care.
- [ ] Set up a system to give great feedback quickly after each class. (FeedbackPanda has tons of VIPKid feedback templates to make giving feedback a snap and it's free to try for 30 days.)
